

WOLF TO WOOF

THE STORY OF DOGS

Wolf to Woof: The Story of Dogs is the largest and most comprehensive traveling exhibition ever created to explore the history, biology and evolution of dogs and the role of dogs in human societies. It uses the familiarity and love of these four-legged friends to explore science and biological concepts.

The Exhibit has four themed sections including multi-media displays, artifacts, photo murals, and dioramas of taxidermied (all collected after animals natural death) wild canines and sculpted modern dog breeds. Additionally interactive, hands-on components demonstrate key exhibit concepts. For example, visitors can enter a "howling area" and guess what dogs are saying, test their nose against a dog's great sense of smell, and climb into an avalanche scene to see what it's like to be saved by a search-and-rescue dog.

Section 1: Dogs come in all shapes and sizes

This section showcases the amazing versatility of dogs and how their appearance has changed through time-both naturally and through the help of humans.

Section 2: A little wolf in every dog

This section explores why dogs and wolves do the things they do, and how and when they behave in similar or different ways.

Section 3: Dogs have skills to help us

From their incredible sense of smell to their stamina for long distance running, the amazing skills of dogs have made the lives of humans a lot easier.

Section 4: What can we do to help dogs?

This section explores what problems our modern world poses for dogs and what scientists, volunteers and everyday people are doing to solve these problems.
